
Arrest Warrants: 4 Ways To Find A Warrant For Arrest?

Contributed by Word About
Saturday, 19 July 2008
Last Updated Thursday, 18 September 2008

Find your arrest warrants now

If you think that you might have a warrant for arrest then you need to find out for certain as soon as possible. If you wait until the cops come and arrest you then you will find yourself in a much worse situation than if you had turned yourself in voluntarily. More about that in the article How To Find A Warrant For Arrest Before The Police Come For You.

Remember - preventing getting arrested is always better than getting arrested...

Find your arrest warrants now

If you think that you might have a warrant for arrest then you need to find out for certain as soon as possible. If you wait until the cops come and arrest you then you will find yourself in a much worse situation than if you had turned yourself in voluntarily. Preventing getting arrested is always better than getting arrested.

You could have warrants for arrest out on you for all sorts of reasons and be totally unaware of them. They might be speeding offences, unpaid fines or you simply because you forgot to turn up in court when you were supposed to. You might even have warrants out on you for things you didn't do if someone has stolen your identity and committed the crimes in your name.

Here are four ways to find out if you have a warrant for arrest

1. You can ask a police officer if you don't mind getting arrested when they find out that you have one.
2. You can ask at the courthouse if you know which one the warrants might be at.
3. You can wait for the police to knock at your door but I don't advise that.
4. You can use an online public records database from the comfort of your own home.

The easiest and most effective way to find out if you have warrants for arrest is to subscribe to an online public database service. These websites are very affordable and they often allow you to do as many searches for warrants as you want. You can search on yourself or anyone else as you want. It's simple, convenient and confidential and you can do it in less than 10 minutes.

Did you know that there is more than one type of arrest warrant that can send the cops chasing after you? Find out here: What Is An Arrest Warrant?